Insufficient Funds and Overdrafts

Your Account is overdrawn if it has a negative balance because the available funds in your Account are less than the amount of the Item(s) presented for payment. The Account balance that we use to determine if your Account is overdrawn includes all Items (including bank fees and service charges) that are posted to your Account on the same Business Day whether the Items are paid or returned. Refer to Section 2.C of the Agreement for information on when Items post to your Account.

At our discretion, we may pay or return the following Items that overdraw this Account: Checks, automatic bill payments and other transactions made using this Account number. We will decline ATM and everyday debit Card transactions that may overdraw this Account unless you select the Overdraft Program for ATM and Everyday Debit Card Transactions described below. The following are fees that may be charged if you do not have sufficient available funds in your Account.

Overdraft Fee	$35 per Item (No more than four Overdraft Fees and/or Item Returned Fees will be charged per Business Day)	You will be charged an Overdraft Fee for each Item we pay (regardless of the amount of the Item) when your Account is overdrawn more than $5 after all Items are posted to the Account. An Overdraft Fee is not charged if your Account is overdrawn by $5 or less after all the Items are posted to the Account. This fee does not apply to ATM and everyday debit Card transactions unless you have authorized us to pay these types of transactions. We do not charge an Overdraft Fee for bank fees and service charges that overdraw your Account.
Consecutive Day Overdraft Fee	$5 per Business Day (Maximum 10 for each occasion your Account remains overdrawn)	You will be charged a Consecutive Day Overdraft Fee for each Business Day your Account is overdrawn in any amount after your Account is overdrawn for three consecutive Business Days. You will be charged this fee even if your Account is only overdrawn due to bank fees and service charges.
Item Returned Fee (NSF)	$35 per Item (No more than four Overdraft Fees and/or Item Returned Fees will be charged per Business Day)	You will be charged an Item Returned Fee (NSF) each time we return an Item unpaid because your Account does not have sufficient available funds to pay the Item. This fee does not apply to declined ATM and everyday debit Card transactions.

These are optional services that may be less expensive than overdraft and item returned fees.

Overdraft Funding	Money is transferred automatically from your linked BMO Harris savings, money market or other checking Account. Transfers are subject to funds availability and transaction limits. The Overdraft Funding Transfer Fee is waived for this Account, but the insufficient funds and overdraft fees may still apply. You must speak with your BMO Harris Banker to enroll in this service. For details and fee information, visit bmoharris.com/overdraft.
Overdraft Protection Line of Credit	In the event of an overdraft, your line of credit will be accessed automatically up to your available credit limit. You must apply and qualify for the Overdraft Protection Line of Credit, which is subject to bank and credit approval. For details and fee information, visit bmoharris.com/overdraft.
