

Remote banking for First Nations, Inuit, and Métis customers.

Indigenous banking without boundaries

Bank with people who understand your community, coast to coast to coast.

Banking that respects Indigenous cultures and communities

The Virtual Indigenous Branch is a dedicated team of Indigenous bankers and allies serving First Nations, Inuit and Métis clients.

Wherever you are in Canada, we bring the branch to you with respectful and culturally informed service.

Full-service banking remotely

We provide full-service banking (bank accounts, investments, credit cards¹, personal loans¹, mortgages¹) remotely by phone or video, using secure digital tools.

Housing support where it matters most

We offer housing solutions for all Indigenous customers, including mortgages, BMO On-Reserve Housing Loans, Ministerial Loan Guarantees, and affordable housing programs¹.

Our expertise can help you build or buy your home, wherever your community is located.

Getting started is simple and secure

All you need is:

- Internet access
- Two pieces of identification from different issuers, confirming two of the following:
 - Your name and date of birth
 - Your name and address
 - Your name and an account number (bank account, credit card, or loan) with another financial institution in Canada².
- NOTE: If you don't meet the criteria above, talk to us for alternative solutions. Eligible identification and exclusions may change from time to time.

Your virtual banker will then guide you through next steps, ensuring your information stays safe and confidential.

Exceptional convenience, personalized service and access without barriers. Make real financial progress from the comfort of your home.
