APRs Based on Prime. If any APR is based on the U.S. Prime Rate (“Prime Rate”), the APR will equal the Prime Rate plus the additional amount shown above. If the Prime Rate increases, it will cause the APR to increase. If the Prime Rate decreases, it will cause the APR to decrease. For each billing period we use the Prime Rate published in The Wall Street Journal on the last day of each month. If the Wall Street Journal is not published on that day, we will use the rate published in the immediately preceding edition. If the Prime Rate causes an APR to change, we put the new APR into effect as of the first day of the billing period for which we calculate the APR. We apply the new APR to any existing balances, subject to any promotional rate that may apply. If The Wall Street Journal does not publish the Prime Rate, we will use a similar published rate.

Effect of APR Increases. If an APR increases, interest charges increase. Your minimum payment may increase as well.

How We Will Calculate Your Balance: We use a method called “average daily balance” (excluding current purchases) to calculate your purchase balance and “average daily balance” (including current advances) to calculate your cash advance balance. See your Card Agreement for more details.

Penalty Fees: A single violation of each type will not exceed $29. However, if another violation of the same type occurs within six billing cycles, we will charge up to the maximum fee in the table above. The Late Payment and Returned Payment fees will not exceed the related Minimum Payment Due.
