BMO Top Performing Portfolio GIC is issued by Bank of Montreal Mortgage Corporation (BMMC) and guaranteed by Bank of Montreal. BMMC will pay a rate of return based on the performance of the underlying assets, but there is no guarantee you will receive any return. The rate of return will be the return on the best performing Reference Portfolio during the Term multiplied by the Participation Rate, except that the rate of return will not be less than zero. The rate of return is not an annual rate but is the rate of return over the entire term of the GIC. The return on a Reference Portfolio is equal to the weighted average of the percentage changes in the prices of the indices comprising the Reference Portfolio, calculated as a percentage using the indices weightings set out in the Summary. The percentage change in the price of an index in the Reference Portfolio is equal to the percentage increase or decrease between the price of the index on the second business day after the Issue Date and the average price of the index over a number of months (the Averaging Period) prior to the Maturity Date. The values of the indices used to calculate the return will not include any distributions or dividends on the indices.
