

BMO Harris Bank N.A. (the “Bank”) information and disclosure for mutual funds¹

Your account at the Bank may be invested in shares of mutual funds. Some of these mutual funds are related to the Bank because an affiliate of the Bank sponsors, administers, or advises them. This document describes how the Bank manages mutual fund fees to ensure you do not pay twice for transactions.

How these relationships work

Here are our affiliate relationships:

- BMO Asset Management Corp. (“BMO AM”) is the investment adviser to BMO Funds, Inc. and BMO LGM Frontier Markets Equity Fund (collectively, the “BMO Funds”).
- BMO AM and other affiliates of the Bank act as subadvisers to certain BMO Funds, certain Eaton Vance Funds, certain Aston Funds and certain Laudus Funds (collectively “Proprietary Funds”). The chart below shows these relationships.
- BMO Financial Corp. (“BFC”), the parent company of the Bank and of BMO AM, owns more than 10% of the common shares of Virtus Investment Partners, Inc., the sponsor of the Virtus Funds.

Managing fees where there are multiple relationships

The Bank and its affiliates charge fees for their services to the Proprietary Funds. When you hold these types of investments, you pay these service fees indirectly through ownership in the fund.

The Bank also charges a fee for its services which is paid directly from your account. This fee includes investment services for accounts, other than custody accounts. You may have a subaccount with an investment adviser who receives fees for managing the subaccount. The investment advisor may be an affiliate of the Bank. To avoid charging you twice for investment management fees (once directly and once indirectly) when your account holds Proprietary Funds your account receives a credit depending upon the type of account as follows:

- Bank acts as trustee, executor, conservator, personal representative, guardian or trustee or investment fiduciary of retirement account: the Bank pays back (by crediting your account) the investment advisory and subadvisory fees paid by the Proprietary Funds to the Bank’s affiliates so you are not charged twice for investment services.
- Bank acts as investment manager: the Bank pays back (by crediting your account) the investment advisory and subadvisory fees paid by non-money market Proprietary Funds to the Bank’s affiliates, so you are not charged twice for investment services.
- When Bank acts only as custodian: the Bank’s fee paid from the account is not for investment management so you are not charged twice if the account holds Proprietary Funds.

Other mutual fund fees

The Bank and its affiliates provide additional services to the BMO Funds as listed in this paragraph. BMO AM (and not the BMO Funds) compensates the Bank and its affiliates for the following services: Taplin, Canida & Habacht, LLC (subadviser); Monegy, Inc. (subadviser); Pyrford International Limited (subadviser); and Lloyd George Management (Europe) Limited (subadviser). BMO AM's payments to these affiliates do not increase the aggregate expenses and fees of the BMO Funds. However, the Bank and its affiliates provide services to the BMO Funds as follows, for which they are compensated by the BMO Funds themselves: the Bank (custodian for domestic funds); BMO AM (adviser, administration, and shareholder services); and BMO Investment Distributors, LLC (distributor). These fees are included in the aggregate expenses and fees of the BMO Funds, as shown in the applicable prospectuses for the BMO Funds. Bank affiliates that act as subadvisers to the Eaton Vance Funds, the Aston Funds, and the Laudus Funds are paid by the third party advisers of those Funds.

The enclosed charts show the fees and expenses for mutual funds held by clients' discretionary accounts where a Bank affiliate serves as an adviser or subadviser to the fund for Class I, Class A and Class Y shares of certain BMO Funds. The annual fees collected from non-affiliated mutual funds for 12b-1/distribution, shareholder servicing, recordkeeping, or other miscellaneous services generally range from 0 to 100 basis points (i.e., 0.00 to 1.00 percent of assets per year). Specific information about the fees and expenses of each mutual fund investment is in the applicable mutual fund prospectus.

Mutual funds have financial risks

Investing in mutual funds involves risk, including the possibility of losing your principal. The Bank, BFC, and affiliates of BFC do not endorse or guarantee your mutual fund shares, and these shares are not deposits or debts owed by any of them. Mutual fund shares are not federally insured or guaranteed by the FDIC, the Federal Reserve Board, or any other government agency.

An investment in the Money Market Funds is neither insured nor guaranteed by the FDIC or any other government agency. Although the Money Market Funds seek to preserve the value of your investment at $1 per share, it is possible to lose money by investing in these funds.

Keep in mind that as interest rates rise, bond prices fall. This may have an adverse effect on a Fund's portfolio. Funds that have a higher concentration of investments in a specific industry or sector may be subject to a higher degree of market risk than funds whose investments are more diversified. Foreign investing involves special risks due to factors such as increased volatility, currency fluctuation and political uncertainties. All investments involve risk, including the possible loss of principal.
